DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-9 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over either Doss or the German patent in view of Kronfalt. Doss or The German patent discloses the claimed invention except for the diffusion cone. Kronfalt teaches that it is known to provide ventilation apparatus with a pressure distribution member as set forth at column 1, line 59 to column 3, line 17. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the sheath of Doss or the German patent with the diffusion cone, as taught by Kronfalt in order to equalized the pressure through the perforated openings. As to claims 3 and 7, the angle of the diffusion cone at the apex of 45° and the porosity of the perforated material being 0.5 constitute an obvious matter of design choice dependent upon the length of the sheath and the amount of air pressure applied thereto; therefore the angle of 45° and the perforation being 0.5 would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art, since the alleged criticality of the angle and porosity has not been disclosed as solving any stated problem or producing any unexpected result.

3. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. Claims 1-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. A broad range or limitation together with a narrow range or limitation that falls within the broad range or limitation (in the same claim) is considered indefinite, since the resulting claim does not clearly set forth the metes and bounds of the patent protection desired. Note the explanation given by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences in Ex parte Wu, 10 USPQ2d 2031, 2033 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1989), as to where broad language is followed by "such as" and then narrow language. The Board stated that this can render a claim indefinite by raising a question or doubt as to whether the feature introduced by such language is (a) merely exemplary of the remainder of the claim, and therefore not required, or (b) a required feature of the claims. Note also, for example, the decisions of Ex parte Steigewald, 131 USPQ 74 (Bd. App. 1961); Ex parte Hall, 83 USPQ 38 (Bd. App. 1948); and Ex parte Hasche, 86 USPQ 481 (Bd. App. 1949). I.e., claim 1 recites "in particular" and claim 3 recited "preferably". In claim 8, the word "slightly" renders the claim indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claim 10 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Priority

6. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
